Dear Edouard,

I am interested in learning more about you as a student and as an athlete. I hope you will take the time to learn more about the University of Nevada, Reno.

The University of Nevada is located in Reno, Nevada within Washoe County. The city of Reno has a population of around 250,000. Nevada offers over 160 undergraduate and graduate academic programs. Our University has a beautiful 291-acre campus located right next to historical downtown Reno with a student body of 17,000.

Wolf Pack athletics is committed to a goal of competing for Conference and National Championships. Our University is dedicated to providing our players with an outstanding, major college student-athlete experience. Beginning in the fall of 2012, The Wolf Pack will compete in the Mountain West Conference, widely regarded as one of the most competitive NCAA Division I baseball conferences in the nation. Schools that will be participating in baseball from the MWC include: Nevada, UNLV, Fresno State, San Diego State, University of New Mexico, and Air Force Academy. The Wolf Pack Baseball Family is very excited about the move.

The Pack plays all our home games on campus at Peccole Field. This multi-million dollar facility has a seating capacity of 3,000, feature field turf, a first class clubhouse/players lounge, state of the art scoreboard/message board, luxury box and a 3000 square foot indoor batting cage facility.

In the last 17 years, the Wolf Pack Baseball program has been a force in the West, winning four regular season or conference championships and playing in four NCAA Regionals. When you combine that with the following:

NCAA Regional Appearances: 1994, 1997, 1999, 2000

18 Major League Players

5 Conference Players of the Year

23 All Americans

146 All Conference Selections

2 Members of Team USA

It is clear why Wolf Pack Baseball is recognized as one of the top programs in the west.

Please take some time to complete our recruit questionnaire and look over the 2011 media guide. I will provide links for each below.
